Breaking Barriers with Technology

The presentation will incorporate consideration of Assistive Technology in the IEP process, and how to determine if a student would benefit from an AT evaluation. Additionally, the process of an AT Evaluation will be discussed; what it entails and who is involved. Ideas for all disabilities will be addressed. Lastly, a sample of technology will be available for hands on demonstration and exploration.

VANESSA LOMBARDO, M.Ed., ATP is a special education teacher who specializes in Assistive Technology to support learners of all abilities. She is currently the Associate Director of the Assistive Technology Department for Advancing Opportunities and holds an Assistive Technology Practitioner Certification. She oversees all school-based contracts as well as contracts with NJ Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired. She also works as an AT Specialist in Ocean and Atlantic Counties.
